PREFACE

Since the publication of the Eleventh General Catalogue of Psi Upsilon, in 1902, four Chapters and 4,830 members have been added to the rolls of the Fraternity. The present Catalogue records the names, Chapters, classes, symbols, degrees, undergraduate societies and scholastic and athletic honors, positions of honor and trust, authorship, club and association membership, and occupations of the members, with the addresses of the living and the dates of death of the deceased, so far as it has been possible to learn them.

Information was derived in the first instance from the members themselves, in part through personal solicitation, but mostly by correspondence. All addresses appearing hereinafter and not enclosed in parentheses have been obtained in this manner and are, consequently, official. An address enclosed in parenthesis is, usually, one to which four letters have been sent, without bringing the desired response and without being returned by the Post Office Department. In a few cases the addresses were not learned until recently, too late for the four letters to have been sent seriatim, but in no case, too late for at least one to have been sent, with the result indicated. Accordingly these addresses are good for mailing purposes at least, but do not appear in the Geographical Index. 326 names of living members appear without addresses. It has been impossible, even through correspondence with Chapters, colleges, class secretaries, relatives and others, and examination of directories, catalogues and other lists, to obtain for these members addresses letters sent to which were not returned undelivered. Former Catalogues of the Fraternity have contained "last known" addresses, even when it was known that they were not good for mailing purposes, but to reduce their number, and to save time, stationery and postage when used as a mailing list, they have been omitted from this Catalogue. In the Appendix appears a list of these "lost" members, and any person knowing the address of one or more of them is requested to communicate this knowledge to the Executive Council.

The asterisk (*) follows the name of a deceased member. Discarded names or portions thereof are enclosed in brackets [ ]. Initial letters not followed by periods are names and not abbreviations. Initial letters followed by periods are abbreviations of names not ascertainable. Attention is called to the Appendix, which contains several interesting tables.

The cover design is the work of John Chadbourn Rorison, Beta Beta '19. The Editor takes this opportunity to thank all the members of the Executive Council, other members of the Fraternity, and the officers of the institutions in which the several Chapters are located who have assisted him so untiringly in the work at hand. In this connection may be mentioned particularly John Vosburgh Irwin, Delta '94, Arthur Hamilton Wilkinson, Jr., Sigma '17, Benjamin Stanton D'Ooge, Gamma '17, Thomas Bradford Boardman, Gamma '18 Beta Beta '18, H. [Waldo] Gray Knapp, Zeta '12, Homer Wesley Johnson, Jr., Zeta '18, Edwin Bruce Shields, Psi '17, Prentiss Bailey Gilbert, Upsilon '06, Edgar Francis Waterman, Beta Beta '98 and Christian Gross, Omicron '17.

While possible in theory it is impossible in practice to produce a work of this sort that is perfect. This one is as nearly so as it has been possible to make it, and both the Editor and the Publisher believe that it is the most complete and accurate book of its kind ever published. We shall feel repaid for our efforts if it meet the requirements of the Fraternity.

HISTORY OF PSI UPSILON

The Psi Upsilon Fraternity owes its origin to two principal sources. The first of these is the great public excitement that prevailed throughout this country, beginning in 1820, over the heated discussion for and against the Masonic Fraternity. Although confined in the main to those of more mature age, where it had marked and serious effects on affairs social, political and commercial, this discussion found its way into the undergraduate bodies of our institutions of learning. There the students gave much thought to secret societies in general, but especially to those which had been or might be confined to that walk of life in which they then found themselves. The general question was argued and debated, academically, in the semi-secret literary societies which had sprung up among the students, and where the effect on the plastic minds of the participants was most marked. Although the general opposition to freemasonry was extended to include all secret societies, fortunately, and because they were so little known, none of it attached to college secret societies. The other source was the Phi Beta Kappa society, which had been organized in 1776 at William and Mary College and had spread to six other institutions of learning. Although started as strictly secret, and having both social and literary objects, Phi Beta Kappa, because many of its members were members of the faculties of the institutions in which its chapters were seated and consequently exercised considerable jurisdiction over its activities, had come to depend upon scholastic attainments rather than social possibilities as qualifications for membership, and on account of the general opposition to secret societies, it had given up most of its secrets. With both its mystery and its social motive gone, Phi Beta Kappa had lost its charm and its attractiveness to the undergraduate mind, and the students saw that any new societies to be organized by them must be founded upon entirely different ideals.

The fifth chapter of Phi Beta Kappa had been established at Union College in 1817. Three other Greek-letter Societies, Kappa Alpha, Sigma Phi and Delta Phi, had been organized at Union between that year and 1833, and which, sometimes called the "Union Triad," were the founders of the existing college fraternity system. Union College was located in the heart of that section in which the discussion referred to above was most violent. Under the influence of the high character and wide reputation of her then president, Dr. Eliphalet Nott, it was in 1833 the foremost educational institution in America outside of New England, and being less firmly bound down by tradition than her New England rivals preceded them in the adoption of more modern educational methods.

In addition to the three named above there had also been organized at Union several secret societies of a purely literary character, one of which was known as the Delphian Institute. The rivalry among these literary societies was most keen, both for members and literary supremacy, and in college politics. As a result of a class political contest seven members of the Delphian Institute banded themselves together in a resolve to counteract the tendencies of the old literary and scholastic societies by the formation of a new one, which should be broader and more liberal in constitution and action and in which the social motive should be the prevailing one. They subscribed to a formal agreement, pledging themselves to unite in an association which should be conducted for the common welfare, and the name "Psi Upsilon" was adopted. This formal document, known as the "Pledge," was long preserved, and its text is still in the archives of the Theta Chapter. It was dated November 24, 1833, the birthday of Psi Upsilon, and the anniversary of which is now celebrated far and wide as "Founders' Day."

HISTORY OF PSI UPSILON

The Seven Founders were Samuel Goodale, Sterling Goodale Hadley, Edward Martindale and George Washington Tuttle, of the class of 1836, and Robert Barnard, Charles Washington Harvey and Merwin Henry Stewart, of the class of 1837. They were well qualified to lead the new movement, and it must not be thought that they were in any respect lacking in those scholastic attainments necessary to admission to the honorary societies, or in those other qualities which made for high standing in the opinion of the faculty. Three of the original members of the class of 1836 received Phi Beta Kappa keys, while all but one of the seven received the A. B. degree at the completion of their courses and the seventh afterwards received honorary D. D. S., M. D. and honorary A. M. degrees at as many other institutions. Goodale, after graduation, studied theology, and both taught school, preached and did missionary work for many years. He was Honorary Canon of the Cathedral in Omaha and Chaplain of the Senate of Nebraska, retired from active service, and died in 1898. Hadley practiced law in New York, was a member of the State Legislature and of a Constitutional Convention, became Judge and Surrogate of Seneca County, State Assessor, President of the Board of Trustees of one of the State Hospitals for the insane, Trustee of Hobart College and United States Commissioner to locate Government buildings in Rochester, Detroit, Minneapolis and Denver, and died in 1901. Martindale practiced law for many years in New York and Iowa, was a Lieutenant-Colonel and later a Colonel in the Union Army, and survived until 1904, being the last surviving Founder. Tuttle long prospered in New York as a merchant and manufacturer, and was not called from his long life until 1903. The Founders from the class of 1837, although not possessed of such physical vigor as their four associates, made good use of their opportunities and became men of high repute in their respective communities. Barnard finished his brief but brilliant career as a lawyer in New York only when ill health sent him to California, where he died in 1853. Harvey became well known in the State of New York as a physician and surgeon, received honorary degrees from two institutions of learning, became president of the Buffalo Medical and Surgical Association and died in 1886. Stewart, while preparing for the ministry, taught in Virginia for two years and died in 1836.

The formation of the Fraternity was at first kept secret, the members taking time to strengthen it by the addition of new members, and to forestall possible faculty opposition until such time as their organization should be strong enough to resist such opposition. Three members of the class of '36 were initiated in December, and in January and February, 1834, six new members were admitted, five from '36 and one from '37. Psi Upsilon was the first fraternity at Union to take members from all the undergraduate classes. Before that time it had been the custom to confine membership in the fraternities to upper classmen. It was not until June, 1834, that the Diamond was publicly worn. It had been designed by a noted jeweler of Albany, who was consulted by the Founders, and who made all of our earliest badges. He always spoke of it as one of his masterpieces.

The career of Psi Upsilon, during its earliest years, was by no means smooth. Its rivals, the older Greek-letter societies, did what they could to hinder its growth and progress. They made an agreement among themselves to exclude all its members from Phi Beta Kappa, but this step seemed to President Nott so unjust that he interfered to the extent of informing the active members of Phi Beta Kappa that unless the agreement were dissolved the faculty would itself nominate the members of that society. This threat was actually carried into effect, and Psi Upsilon thus secured its fair representation in Phi Beta Kappa. In 1838, when the secret societies appointed a joint committee to confer with President Nott concerning an attempted invasion of their rights in the literary societies, a Psi Upsilon was made chairman.

HISTORY OF PSI UPSILON

In September, 1834, eight more men were initiated, two from '36, five from '37, and one, William Taylor, our "first freshman," from '38. From '38 were drawn thirteen members and from '39 nine. The Fraternity at once took a high stand. Its political position having already been secured through the intervention of Dr. Nott, and its social standing being good from the outset partly from the fact that the members had gained the favor of the wife of Professor (afterward Bishop) Alonzo Potter, the daughter of Dr. Nott, and whose son, Clarkson Nott Potter, later became a member of the Fraternity in the class of '42, nothing remained but for it to carry out the high ideals of the Founders. A long period of prosperity followed. The name of the local Chapter, "Theta," was not assumed until 1838, after a second Chapter had been established. From 1835 to 1860 both inclusive one hundred and seventeen members were initiated into the Theta, an average of nearly five members per year. During the Civil War initiations were for a short time suspended, partly because of the reduced state of the College and partly because of extreme exclusiveness. But Albert Constantine Ingham, Theta '47, came to the aid of the Chapter in its time of need. To his assistance came Morton Elnathan Brasee and David Milton Monroe Zeller, of the classes of '63 and '64 respectively of the Iota Chapter and the former one of its Charter Members, who, feeling that the Theta, which had strongly supported the Iota's petition for a Charter and had initiated its sole Founder, was entitled to any support which the younger Chapter might give, left Kenyon in the midst of their courses with the expressed intention of furnishing that support, entered Union and remained to obtain their degrees. No class passed without a Psi Upsilon delegation, and with the class of '65 a vigorous life returned. In the spring of that year, there being no member of the Fraternity left at Union, five Union undergraduates, acting in accordance with arrangements made by Theta alumni, went to the Psi Chapter where they were initiated and thence returned to form the nucleus of the revived Theta. The archives, which had been surrendered, were returned after the delegates sent by the Convention of that year reported that the reorganization had been complete.

All of the Founders, with the exception of Stewart, lived to see realized the hopes of their undergraduate days as resting in Psi Upsilon. Barnard lived until 1855, at which time there were eleven Chapters and sixteen hundred and sixty members. Harvey, who died in 1886, saw the growth into nineteen Chapters and six thousand six hundred and six members, one of whom was his son, Leon Ferdinand Harvey, Theta '83. At the time of the death of the last surviving Founder, Martindale, in 1904, there were twenty-three Chapters and more than eleven thousand members. In 1896 he wrote, "It is the pride of my life that I was one of the Founders of the Psi Upsilon Society."

The Fraternity exercised no haste in extending to other institutions. Jeremiah Skidmore Lord, Theta '36, had left Union in 1835 to enter the University of the City of New York, now New York University, and in the same year wrote to the Theta for permission to found a Chapter of Psi Upsilon there. An active member of the Theta, sent down to examine into the merits of the application, reported unfavorably, another Greek-letter society having just been organized in the young University. But soon after, Isaac Dayton, a student there, went to Union to complete his course and became a Psi Upsilon. Being anxious to see a Chapter of the organization in his old college he enlisted the services of William Taylor, referred to above and who was then in New York. These two attended a meeting of the petitioners, and having carried their application to the Theta soon obtained the desired permission to establish the new Chapter. The formal installation of the Delta took place February 11, 1837, the Charter being delivered to six members of the classes of '37, '38, '39 and '40. For eighty years the Delta has enjoyed an uninterrupted existence, during the whole of which time her influence in the Fraternity has been strong and her alumni have stood high in its councils.

HISTORY OF PSI UPSILON

In the spring of 1839 William Erigena Robinson, a sophomore at Yale, visited his friend George Monilaws, an active member of the Theta, and to both of them occurred the idea of planting the Fraternity at Yale. Robinson was initiated by the Theta May 3, 1839, and having stopped at New York where the consent of the Delta was obtained, returned to New Haven as the sole Founder of the Beta. "Until August of that year," he writes, "I was the Beta Chapter in myself. I had my badge with 'Beta' on it three months before any of those mentioned as founders were initiated, and I initiated them all in my room. I was then a sophomore, and had it been known that the society admitted any one below a junior, it would have killed the chapter. I therefore kept my connection a secret, and was again initiated with my class as juniors, not one of whom knew that I had been a member." The Beta soon became and still is the largest Chapter of the Fraternity. Her alumni have been prominent in all the important walks of life, one of them being one of the two Psi Upsilon Presidents of the United States. The Founder of the Beta compiled the first Catalogue of the Fraternity and was an Associate Founder of two other Chapters. Our earliest songs were composed and our first song books edited by Beta undergraduates.

The Beta was followed by the Sigma, at Brown University. The indefatigable Robinson, the Founder of the Beta, aided by Henry Martyn Dexter, Beta '40, who had passed his freshman and sophomore years at Brown, got together at that institution the proper quantity and quality of material. Having secured the consent of the three existing Chapters they went to Providence and installed the new Chapter March 28, 1840, the Charter being delivered to twenty-three men, selected from the four undergraduate classes. During its early years the Sigma met with considerable opposition on the part of the faculty, who had marked prejudices against all secret societies. But the members having, during these years, so conducted themselves as to reflect credit upon the Chapter and the University, and the Chapter's by-laws having been submitted to the President for his examination, the faculty became reconciled to the existence of the Sigma and since that time has been frequently and wisely recruited from its alumni. Most of the Chapter's initiates have come from the best families of Providence, and with its alumni continuously occupying positions of the first rank in official, commercial and social circles, it has at all times exercised great influence in the (City's) affairs. Many of the Sigma's alumni have become distinguished for their services in the cause of education, of whom may be mentioned Albert Harkness, the Latinist, Adoniram Judson Huntington, for many years Professor of Greek Language and Literature in Columbian College, and James Burrill Angell, President and President Emeritus of the University of Michigan from 1871 to the time of his death in 1916. William Whitman Bailey, the poet and botanist, and James DeMille, the novelist, represent the Sigma in letters, while Henry Frederic Lippitt, Sigma '78, has just completed a term as United States Senator from Rhode Island.

Not content with having established two Chapters, Robinson next turned his attention to Amherst College. Five students of that institution had resolved to obtain a Psi Upsilon Charter, and having associated with themselves eleven other students, and a formal petition having been presented to the Beta, dispatched one of their number to Yale to cooperate with Robinson in the project. The latter, with his accustomed zeal and energy, took up the matter with the other Chapters and soon secured their formal consent. On November 16, 1841, he and Edward Trask, Delta '40, journeyed to Amherst, driving the last twenty-five miles with two spirited horses belonging to the latter's mother, and instituted the Gamma. The new Chapter met with faculty opposition, similar to that encountered by the Sigma, and was at one time threatened with dissolution on the ground that a rule of the college had been broken by the organization without faculty consent. Acting upon the advice of a friendly faculty member, however, the initiates took off their badges and, disclaiming any intention of willful disobedience of rules, respectfully asked for official consent to the organization. After an examination of its Constitution and by-laws by a committee of the faculty, one of which, William Seymour Tyler, then Professor of Greek and Latin, afterwards became a member of the Chapter, the desired consent was obtained and the cherished badges put on again. From that time the Chapter's progress has been rapid, without once faltering. The Gamma is one of the fairest jewels in the diadem of Psi Upsilon, and in their loyalty to and zeal for the Fraternity her alumni are second to none.

HISTORY OF PSI UPSILON.

On May 10, 1842, the Zeta was instituted at Dartmouth College by Horace James, one of the Charter Members of the Beta and who was then studying for the ministry at Andover Theological Seminary. The Charter was delivered to fourteen men, all members of the senior class of '42, and nearly all of whom rose to distinction. The first Greek-letter society to enter Dartmouth, Psi Upsilon at first experienced the same difficulty—faculty opposition—as at Brown and Amherst. Having nothing substantial upon which to base this opposition, and finding the Chapter enjoying the protection of the wife of Professor Sanborn and the aunt of one of the Charter Members, and who braving the wrath of her spouse and his fellow members of the faculty offered the originators of all the trouble a room in her house for holding their meetings, the opposition soon disappeared and the faculty came to look upon the new organization as something of which the College could be proud. The Zeta's growth has been rapid, until now it is the Second Chapter of the Fraternity in the size of both its alumni and undergraduate bodies. Its sons have stood high in all important walks of life, especially so in education, and to the records of many of them Psi Upsilon points with pride.

At the commencement of the Zeta's probationary period eight students, members of the junior and senior classes at Columbia College (now a part of Columbia University) were asking for the establishment of a Psi Upsilon Chapter in that institution. They were aided by William Taylor, Theta '38, who had taken such an active part in the establishment of the Delta, and by Cornelius Earle, then a Delta undergraduate. The necessary authority having been obtained, these two installed the Lambda Chapter on June 20, 1842, and delivered the Charter to the eight undergraduates referred to above. Psi Upsilon had been preceded six years at Columbia by another fraternity, and was not opposed by the faculty. The prosperity of the Lambda dates from its birth and for seventy-five years it has maintained a high position at Columbia. The Charter Members were all men of the highest scholarship standing, the three junior members being the honor men of their class, and the Chapter has had more honor men than all other fraternities at Columbia combined. Its alumni occupy many of the highest positions in the religious, educational, professional, financial and social life of the metropolis, and have at all times been most active in the affairs of the Fraternity.

The petition for the establishment of a Chapter at Bowdoin College was presented at the Convention held in 1842. The movement had begun systematically. An association of the students sent one of their number to Harvard and Yale, with the view to selecting an intercollegiate fraternity with which to connect themselves. On his return to Brunswick he recommended Psi Upsilon so strongly that from that time association with no other fraternity was thought of. The petition was acted upon favorably and the Charter voted by the Convention, but, in consequence of some false stories put in circulation by other organizations connected with the College, its issuance was delayed. The disappointed petitioners formed themselves into a local society, known as Omega Phi, and set about correcting these false impressions. Through the assistance of Mellen Chamberlain, Zeta '44, the difficulty was removed and the Charter issued. On July 26, 1843, Lincoln Flagg Brigham, Zeta '42, as the official representative of the Fraternity, formally instituted the Kappa Chapter, nine men being named in the Charter. The Institutor said, "The Bowdoin Chapter, in the beginning and since, as I have cause to believe, was made up of the best material the college afforded." Of the nine Founders three became clergymen, three lawyers, and one a manufacturer. All of them attained prominence. The Kappa has been well represented in all Bowdoin classes since its installation, and its alumni are strong in Portland and other Maine cities and towns. William Pierce Frye, Kappa '50, was United States Senator from Maine from 1881 until 1911, and Sumner Increase Kimball, Kappa '55, has been the head of the United States Life Saving Service since 1878.

HISTORY OF PSI UPSILON

At Hamilton College an attempt to gain admission to Psi Upsilon had been made in 1838. Another attempt was made in the winter of 1842-43, when two undergraduate members of the Theta visited the petitioners and reported favorably. The petitioners belonged to an inner circle of a local organization known as "I. T." Under this mask they were able not only to conduct their operations without arousing suspicion, but also to obtain for themselves such undergraduate offices as might prove useful to Psi Upsilon later on. The petition having been granted, four of the petitioners attended the Convention of 1843 and on July 26 were initiated. At the commencement of the succeeding fall term these four initiated the other seven Charter Members, the date of which initiation, September 25, 1843, being taken as the date of the founding of the Psi Chapter. Although small in numbers, the Psi has had a delegation from every class and has stood high in the annals of the College. It points with pride to such alumni as Joseph Roswell Hawley, '47, United States Senator from Connecticut, Charles Dudley Warner, '51, the journalist and author, and [Daniel] Willard Fiske, '51, the scholar and educator. All three of these have taken active parts, even in their later years, in the affairs of the Fraternity, showing the spirit of the Psi to be such that the weightiest affairs of life do not dim in her alumni the love for Psi Upsilon.

At the Convention of 1843, at which the Psi Founders were initiated, appeared a delegation of petitioners from Wesleyan University. The movement sprang from a local society known as Kappa Alpha Phi, which became a few months later a branch of Kappa Sigma Theta, a sophomore society at Yale. Stephen Beekman Bangs, a Wesleyan student who went to the University of the City of New York for his senior year, and was there initiated into the Delta, supported the petition which, after some debate, was granted. He instituted the new Chapter, known as the Xi, November 20, 1843, All four undergraduate classes were represented among the seventeen Charter Members, as well as one class already graduated. Five of them became clergymen of the Methodist Episcopal Church, many of the best known members of whose ministry have come from the ranks of the Xi. The Chapter has sent out many men of distinction in other lines, including educators, physicians, lawyers and authors. Karl Pomeroy Harrington, Xi '82, is the editor of the last two editions of the Songs of the Fraternity. In scholarship the Xi has always ranked high at Wesleyan, winning more scholarship prizes than any two competitors combined.

Not for several years was an attempt made to found another Chapter. Those who had left the halls of the ten existing Chapters were filled with the spirit of the Fraternity and desirous of seeing Chapters placed in other institutions in which they were interested. Several of these in Boston organized thirty-four Harvard University students into an association of petitioners for a Chapter at that institution. Letters were written to all the Chapters and the consent of most of them obtained. The organizers were unwilling to await the tardy action of the remaining ones, however, and proceeded to institute the Chapter, which sent its delegates to the Convention of 1851. The Convention adopted a resolution to the effect that the action of the Boston alumni was reprehensible and illegal, but admitting to full recognition the new Chapter, which was called the Alpha. With many of its members destined to become famous, the Alpha at once became a power in the University. The Harvard fraternities, however, were unable to successfully contend for long against the system of local clubs which, by virtue of their age and traditional influence, maintained their ascendancy. The Chapter made no elections from the Class of '59, and soon afterwards became inactive. In 1870 the Alpha was revived, through the efforts of the Sigma and of a number of Harvard undergraduates in the Class of '71. It took substantially large delegations from that and all succeeding classes to and including '74, after which, as the result of disagreements between it and the Hasty Pudding and Signet Clubs, the Alpha again became inactive and has remained so. This is peculiarly unfortunate in that the Fraternity has no other inactive Chapters—a record not equalled by any rival Fraternity.

In 1854 the Innominata Society was formed at the University of Rochester, with the intention of applying for a Psi Upsilon Charter. The idea originated with John C Overhiser, Delta '54, who spent his senior year at the Rochester institution. The task of obtaining such a Charter was already becoming a difficult one, and it was not until the Convention of 1857 that the application was granted, this action being thereafter ratified by all the Chapters. On February 15, 1858, Theodore Bacon, Beta '53, who was practising law in Rochester, and Augustus Hopkins Strong, Beta '57, then a student at the Rochester Theological Seminary and who has since become its head, instituted the Upsilon, as the new Chapter was named. The fifteen Charter Members were taken from the four undergraduate classes, and the Fraternity may well feel proud of all of them. Albion Winegar Tourgee, the noted jurist, journalist and author, was a member of the Upsilon in the Class of '62, and Robert Stuart MacArthur, for many years Pastor and now Pastor Emeritus of the Calvary Baptist Church in the City of New York, of '67. The Upsilon has drawn most of its men from the City of Rochester, and having at all times been the leading Fraternity in the institution and able to take its pick of all the classes, its alumni stand far higher than those of any other Fraternity in the social and business activities of the City. One of the most successful and enjoyable Conventions of the Fraternity was that held with the Upsilon in 1908.

Two years after the founding of the Upsilon the Fraternity for the first time went beyond the confines of New England and New York, the fortunate institution on this occasion being Kenyon College, the leading Episcopal exponent in the west. The sole Founder of the Chapter was Robert McNeilly, who had been for several years corresponding with and making visits to the Chapters, supported in his petition by John Cotton Smith, Kappa '47, who had taken his B. D. degree at Bexley Hall, the theological department of Kenyon, and by William Walter Phelps, Beta '60, afterwards Minister to Austria. The application was granted by the Convention of 1860, and Dr. McNeilly having visited the Theta, where he was initiated, instituted the Iota on the anniversary of the Founding of the Fraternity, November 24, 1860. Of the eleven Charter Members three became Episcopal Clergymen, and many Iota alumni have followed in their footsteps. The Chapter had always maintained a high standard of membership, but in spite of the small attendance of students has not omitted a class. Iota men are known throughout the Fraternity for their zealous spirit.

Certain members of the local chapter of Beta Theta Pi had, prior to 1854, decided to apply for a Psi Upsilon Charter at the University of Michigan. The first petition was presented to the Convention of 1854, but without success. For ten years, until 1864, the matter was pushed with unflinching zeal by the members of successive classes, the application finally being granted at the Convention held that year with the Psi. The Iota was deputed to install the new Chapter, and on January 26, 1865, the rites were performed and the Phi started on its long voyage of success. The Charter was entrusted to fourteen men, representing four classes and all of whom have shown by their attainments that they were worthy to wear the Diamond. The new Chapter at once took and has ever since maintained the high position which seems inseparable from the prestige of the Fraternity. The Phi has more prominent citizens of the City of Detroit than has any other chapter of any fraternity.

HISTORY OF PSI UPSILON

Four years later the fifteenth Chapter was established at the University of Chicago, the application having been granted at the Convention of 1868, held with the Phi. The grant had been urged by the large body of Psi Upsilon alumni resident in Chicago, led by Cornelius Faling Brown, Theta '67. Two members of the Phi initiated the Charter Members on April 17, 1869, and the Omega came into being. Although beginning life with bright prospects, and occupying a high place in undergraduate activities at the University, the Chapter necessarily shared the declining fortunes of its alma mater, and became dormant in 1886 when the latter closed its doors. Its place upon our rolls has been taken by the present Omega, which was founded November 24, 1897, on the sixty-fourth birthday of the Fraternity, in the new and well-endowed University of Chicago. The Chapter is now successful and prosperous, and its members are occupying more and more a prominent place in the affairs of the University, of the City and of the Fraternity.

A local society known as Upsilon Kappa, at Genesee College, had petitioned almost every Convention from 1864 to 1872 for admission to Psi Upsilon. In the meantime the College, removed and enlarged, had become Syracuse University. The application was supported by George William Elliott, Xi '73, who had entered the new institution with the Class of '73. The final attempt owes its success largely to the efforts of Chester Adgate Congdon, Pi '75, whose intelligence, energy and persistent labors, as a part of which he personally visited every Chapter, found their reward when the Convention of 1872, held with the Gamma, granted the application. But a technical objection arising, the Charter was not actually delivered until 1875. On June 8 of that year the Pi Chapter was instituted, the Gamma conducting the ceremonies. Uniform prosperity and steadfast devotion to the Fraternity have characterized the Pi, and those of other Chapters who have visited Syracuse in recent years have been especially impressed by the manner in which its formal affairs are conducted.

One year later a Chapter at Cornell University was added to the roll. The petitioning body was composed of members of the local Chapter of Phi Kappa Psi, supported by Andrew Dickson White, Beta '53, then President of the University, [Daniel] Willard Fiske, Psi '51, a member of its faculty, and other alumni. The Charter was confided to Hjalmar Hjorth Boyesen, Albert Nelson Prentiss, Charles Chauncey Shackford and Goldwin Smith, all then members of the Cornell faculty, Henry Shaler Williams who afterwards became such, Edwin Jay Morgan, a graduate of Hobart College and a well known physician, and ten undergraduates. The Chi Chapter was instituted at Ithaca, June 12, 1876, by delegates from the Executive Council, with an attendance of alumni and a degree of ceremony previously unknown. The accompanying public exercises, presided over by the venerable William Taylor, Theta '38, hereinbefore referred to, were attended by many alumni and prominent citizens. With such an auspicious beginning it seemed impossible for the Chi to be anything but eminently successful, and such has been its history. It has been peculiarly favored by having as resident alumni, its own and of other Chapters, a large body of prominent men who have taken an active part in guiding its destinies.

At Trinity College was a local society of many years' standing, known as Beta Beta, surpassing all others numerically and remarkable for the superior scholarship of its members. On its rolls are the names of many bishops, college presidents and professors, prominent lawyers and business men. A proposition for the Society to become a Chapter of Psi Upsilon met with favor among the alumni. The petition was presented at the Convention of 1879, held with the Beta, was granted and the action later ratified by the Chapters. The installation, at which thirty-three alumni and twenty-one undergraduates were initiated, was held February 4, 1880, in the presence of a hundred and thirty members of numerous Chapters, and including many men prominent in the world at large, and the attendant literary exercises were elaborate. The name of the local society has been preserved in that of the Chapter, and the Beta Beta has at all times been a credit to the Fraternity. Among her alumni are many bishops and prominent clergymen of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

At Lehigh University two Psi Upsilon members of the faculty, Edward Higginson Williams, Jr., Beta '72, who had also taken a post graduate course in the institution, and Henry Clark Johnson, Chi '73, with William David Holmes, Chi '81, fathered a movement for still another Chapter. Alumni throughout Pennsylvania gave their support. The first petition was presented at the Convention of 1881, but it was not until two years later that a Convention acted favorably. On February 22, 1884, the installation of the Eta took place, in the presence of many alumni and delegates from both the Chapters and the Executive Council. The Charter Members consisted of the three above named and thirty-five Lehigh alumni and undergraduates. The Eta at once came into prominence in undergraduate activities, competing successfully with the six fraternities already established in the University, and has continued to turn out creditable and loyal members of Psi Upsilon.

On May 5, 1891, our other Pennsylvania Chapter was instituted at the University of Pennsylvania, having arisen out of a local society. The character and standing of the members were high, and although preceded in the University by eleven other Fraternities the Tau from the first took a leading part in undergraduate activities. From the best families of Philadelphia and vicinity it takes such men as it desires, and its local alumni, occupying important professional, business and social positions, exercise great influence in the affairs of that City. The Tau conducts each year several important social functions for the entertainment of its own members and those of other Chapters, and at all times makes a specialty of its open-door policy, which affords to all visiting Psi Upsilons access to its splendid chapter house.

Just seventeen days later the Mu Chapter was instituted at the University of Minnesota, its nucleus being Theta Phi, a local society of some standing. Psi Upsilon was the tenth Fraternity to enter the University in seventeen years, and with the prestige derived from Theta Phi and from its ownership of the best chapter house there, was well equipped to take its proper position in the life of its alma mater. The Mu is now ready to hold, this month, its second Convention of the Fraternity, which promises to be enjoyable and entirely successful in every way.

The twenty-second Chapter, the Rho, was installed at the University of Wisconsin on March 27, 1895, just in time for its members to take a prominent place in the Phi Convention held five weeks later. Like its two predecessors the Rho originated from a local society. The oldest of the great western State Universities, Wisconsin already had nine Fraternities at the time of the entrance of Psi Upsilon. In the choice of its Founders the Rho was peculiarly fortunate, and in this way was able to successfully combat the prestige gained by the other nine through their earlier establishment, and immediately came into prominence. Two of its Founders were United States Senators William Freeman Vilas and John Coit Spooner, of the classes of '58 and '64 respectively.

In 1902 the first of our Pacific Coast Chapters was founded, at the University of California. A local society had been organized, and in its petition for a Charter was supported by nearly every Psi Upsilon in the Far West. The installation exercises took place on August 18, and were largely attended by alumni of many Chapters. Although seventeen fraternities already had chapters in the institution, the faculty realized the importance of the entrance of Psi Upsilon and gave the newcomer all possible support. The Epsilon has maintained in every way the high standard of the Fraternity, and in spite of its geographical location has never failed to send a delegate to the annual Convention. Its chapter house is the center of Psi Upsilon life in California.

At the University of Illinois existed a local society known as the Aztec Club. For several years prior to 1910 its members had, with the active support of Psi Upsilon members of the faculty and of other Illinois alumni, petitioned for admission to the Fraternity, and its delegates had visited nearly all the Chapters. The necessary steps having been taken the Omicron Chapter was installed May 28, 1910, by delegates from the Executive Council. The Chapter is in every way prosperous, and its members have in a creditable manner arisen to their obligations as Psi Upsilons.

HISTORY OF PSI UPSILON

On May 7, 1913, the Delta Delta Chapter was installed at Williams College, the petition for a Charter having been presented by the members of a local society organized for the express purpose. The movement was actively supported by Edward Higginson Williams, Jr., already referred to as a Founder of the Eta, by Charles Hansen Toll, Psi '04, and other alumni, and had the approval of the President and other members of the Williams faculty. The Chapter was installed by delegates of the Executive Council and others on their way to the Convention held with the Gamma. Williams was the one eastern institution the absence of a Psi Upsilon Chapter in which had always been regretted by the Fraternity. The early presence of a number of chapters of other fraternities of high rank, with the prestige thereby obtained, has somewhat hampered the Delta Delta in its campaign for members. But without lowering in any degree Psi Upsilon standards of membership the Chapter has taken desirable men from every class and is year by year increasing the ease with which its members are obtained. In the affairs of the College Delta Delta men rank high, and the Chapter gives every promise of being a successful one.

For its latest Chapter Psi Upsilon, in 1916, again went to the Pacific Coast, this time to the University of Washington, in Seattle. The University is the most prominent in a large territory, and contains excellent Psi Upsilon material. A local society enlisted the active support of all the Seattle alumni, led by Alphonso Paine Sawyer, Beta '80, Charles Philip Spooner, Rho '94, David Whitcomb, Gamma '00 and Albert Melville Robinson, Iota '01. After a vigorous campaign of several years' duration, as the result of which the objections of the Fraternity to again going so far from the East were finally overcome, the cherished Charter was granted. The baby Chapter, which took the name of Theta Theta, was installed June 10, 1916, Herbert Lawrence Bridgman, Gamma '66, the President of the Fraternity and the delegate of the Executive Council, officiating. Sixty-two members were initiated, the exercises being attended by a large gathering of alumni of many Chapters. Ten more have just been initiated from the Class of '20, and all present indications point to a prosperous and uninterrupted existence for the Theta Theta.

Twenty-five Chapters have thus been added to the Theta, and the members of the twenty-six number fourteen thousand five hundred and twenty-nine. It must not be supposed that all petitions have received favorable action or even the support of any Chapter or group of Chapters. Psi Upsilon has more carefully than any other fraternity confined itself to the historic and the leading colleges, and its policy at present is against extension. Among the more prominent institutions which it has refused to enter are Colby, Vermont, Tufts, Hobart, Princeton, Allegheny, Lafayette, Dickinson, Virginia, North Carolina, Western Reserve, Indiana, Northwestern, Case, St. Stephens, Toronto and Kansas.

The insignia, general organization, hymnology and bibliography of the Fraternity should perhaps more properly be treated in an epitome, and as the new Psi Upsilon Epitome is soon to be prepared and published, under the auspices of the Executive Council, such matters will be omitted here for treatment in that work. For the history and achievements of the members of the Fraternity, you are referred to the body of this the Twelfth General Catalogue.

For much of the material used in the foregoing history the Editor is indebted to “The Psi Upsilon Epitome,” written by Albert Poole Jacobs, Phi '73 and published in 1884, and to “The Story of The Psi Upsilon,” a sketch written by [Daniel] Willard Fiske, Psi '51 and read at the Convention of 1876, held with that Chapter, and re-read, with some revision, at the semi-centennial anniversary of the Fraternity celebrated under the auspices of the Theta in 1883.
